Tired of your kids scribbling on your walls and worried about mixing flour in your kitchen? Do not worry. Blackboard cupboards and graffiti cabinets seem to be the latest obsession amongst parents and new couples. Throw away your shopping lists, recipes and logs for the day, instead jot them down on your cupboards and cabinets. Dameem Ansari, chief architect of Ansari and Associate Architects tells us why this will be a hit. For mom's who run after kids who scribble on the walls, such cabinets will provide relief to them as the children will now scribble on their cupboards. Worried about notepad leaves and sheets missing? Well get blackboard cabinets customised and note down what's needed on them, so your husband can't say he couldn't find the note. However Dameem also shares a word of advice and explains why it is important to have only a section of your room personalised with such cabinets otherwise the room will look too cluttered.

Creative:

Adding a touch of creativity to your room, such cabins will personalise your rooms with fond jots.

Reminders:

The biggest and the most interesting aspect of such cabinets is that you won't have to open the cupboards to find out what is inside. Just jot them outside and your all set.

USP:

Because such boards are placed over plywood the chances of damaging the wood is very less and secondly, the writings can be wiped out easily.

User Friendly:

Graffiti cabinets are user-friendly and do not require maintenance. Fridge notes will now be replaced with cabinet reminders.
